The DIMMER VIEW

The Geriatric Explosion

Following WWII came the baby explosion and schools were overbuilt to accommodate the bumper crop of youngsters as they grew to school age. But the birth rate has subsided and in many areas there is an excess of schoolrooms.

Now attention is focused on a different population age level. This time it is the ever increasing geriatric population—those who are 65 or older.

The problem here isn't schoolrooms, obviously, but geriatric services and medicine is being called on to ease the situation but little is being done about it now.

In the United States, according to the American College of Physicians, more than 10 percent of the total population is comprised of those 65 years or older. With an unchanging birth rate, the percentage could double to 20 percent by the year 2025.

Osler L. Peterson, MD, FACP, at the U. of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, noted that misconceptions about old age have blown out of proportion the real problem—chronic disease.

He cited a New England study which showed the aged "who constituted 11.4% of the population, accounted for about 20% of all hospitalizations and incurred a third of all hospital charges, mainly for chronic diseases."

The diseases do not wait until the person reaches 65, but start early in life and increase in prevalence with age.

Hospitalizations, with many expensive bills, are part of the lives of the geriatric population. According to a federal government study cited in the editorial, the per capita cost for personal health care was $374 for persons under 65, and $1,360 for those over 65.

Dr. Peterson notes that the United States has very few geriatric services compared to Britain or other European countries. Professor John Williamson, a visiting professor from the University of Edinburgh, told a recent Philadelphia conference that the home helps services seemed to be a very effective alternative to institutionalization of the aged. Home helps services in the United States are in short supply.

Age and related disorders have clouded the issue. Health care expenses have increased for the 65 and over.

The upsurge of nursing homes, private nursing staff and all other health care services paid for or adjusted by Medicare or Medicaid should be noted.

Another geriatrician Stanley Brody MD, also of U. of Pennsylvania, estimates that the mean nursing home charges are now about $30 a day, equivalent to $11,000 annually. And there are actually more beds in nursing homes than in short-stay hospitals (1,327,704 versus 1,049,701).

The problem of dealing with old age and accompanying chronic disease is further complicated by lack of agreement among the experts and agencies in the field. The fragmentation of services (as between Medicare and Medicaid) is no help either.

"The need for geriatric specialists has been debated for years," Dr. Peterson concluded. "I do not have an opinion on that. However, I am certain that if the physician who gives personal care is to give that care efficiently he will need one supporting organization rather than the present structure in which the place or phase of care determines responsibility."

Board of Equalization Set For SD CofC Panel

The state's most powerful tax-governing body, the Board of Equalization, will conduct a panel discussion at a San Diego Chamber of Commerce luncheon Oct. 4 in the Crystal Room of the U. S. Grant Hotel.

Board members are George R. Reilly, William M. Bennett, Richard Nevins, State Controller Kenneth Cory and Solana Beach resident Iris Sankey.

Sankey, vice chairwoman of the board, is the second woman ever to serve on the panel and the first to be vice chairwoman.

The business taxes administered by the board affect every major facet of California commerce. It regulates taxes on alcoholic beverages, cigarettes, motor vehicle fuel, electric energy surcharges and insurance companies. The tax programs it administers raise more than $6 billion annually.

Guests will be able to question the Equalization Board members at the 12 noon meeting, which will be preceded by no-host beverages at 11:30 a.m.

The cost of the luncheon is $7.50 and reservations may be made at the Chamber of Commerce offices or by calling 232-0124, ext. 46.

County Opens Squawk Office In East County

The County of San Diego has opened a Citizen's Assistance field office to provide better access to government and quick responses to inquiries, the Board of Supervisors announced.

The office is in the Milford bldg. at the corner of Magnolia and Lexington — 291 N. Magnolia.

The field office will assist citizens by listening to complaints about any facet of County government and follow up with action, getting County officials to answer questions, advising on how to make public hearing presentations, helping locate information services, and by following the patterns of complaints and suggest changes to eliminate the sources of problems.

The Citizen Assistance Office has the ability to investigate a wide variety of complaints ranging from complicated land use matters to simple dog problems. The office is, however, limited to solving problems that specifically concern County government.

It is the intention of the Citizen Assistance Program to provide a comprehensive service through the El Cajon Field office, supervisors say.

Contact is Augie Bareno, Citizen Assistance Specialist, who will be responsible for the El Cajon field office, at 236-2742 or 579-4145.

Hot??? It Really Was

If you thought it was hot you were right.

Temperatures in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area were well above 100 degrees the past few days.

On September 23 it was 106; 24—107 and 25—105.

During the week of September 18 it didn't vary far from 74 degrees.

LAYING IT ON THICK — Pauline Pardee, a teenager taking part in the programs of the Lemon Grove Youth Center, applies a coat of paint to a graffiti-scarred wall during last Saturday's Lemon Grove Clean-Up Day. Youth center kids are continuing clean-up efforts with weed abatement along the railroad tracks in Lemon Grove.

The Lemon Grove Youth Center stepped out ahead of the September Clean-Up Month in Lemon Grove—and will probably continue its efforts well into October.

The center, at 2445 Imperial ave., handles 50 to 75 youngsters on a continuing basis. 11 of them are already cleaning weeds off the railroad right of way.

So far, that crew has cleaned weeds from Central to San Miguel. Starting Saturday they head toward Massachusetts from San Miguel. It will take about four weeks to complete the project, a spokesperson said.

Another group started this week painting over the graffiti which now adorns many walls in the community. That assignment may take all month, too. A spokesperson answered a question regarding who put the graffiti on—"are they some of the guys who are now painting it out?"—with "I honestly don't know, but they're going to spend some time covering it over."

The youngsters are paid to do the painting and clean-up by the City of Lemon Grove. They also take jobs doing yard work and collecting newspapers. Half of the money they earn is given to them.

The rest is put in a fund toward a canoe ride for them in the Spring.

The Center, from which the youngsters operate, conducts classes in pottery, boxing, woodworking, cooking and candle-making. These activities and work prepare them for accepting jobs as they mature, a spokesperson said.

The Center is open 3-8 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The phone is 464-1711.

Kids' Day Parade Set for Saturday

The 23rd annual Lemon Grove Kiwanis Kids' Day Parade is all set for Saturday.

The parade will assemble on the corner of Citronella and Lincoln streets, behind the fire station, at 11 a.m. Judging of entries will be from 11:30 to 12 noon, and the parade will begin its march at noon sharp.

Marchers will head north on Imperial to Broadway, east on Broadway to Kempf and south on Kempf to the eastern gate of Lemon Grove Junior High School. Contestants will receive their trophies in the schoolyard and all participants will receive free ice cream.

Units confirmed at presstime are the Lemon Grove Fire Department, following the color guard; the 68-piece Trojan Band from Lemon Grove Junior High School, directed by Harry Weisgerber; high school bands from Mt. Miguel directed by Dean Immel and Helix, directed by Gerald Kirk. Miss Lemon Grove, Kathie Stenbeck, and the Skyline Skylette Skaters are also expected to participate.

Lemon Grove Junior High School Band members and other music students from the school will be selling candy bars in the school band room after the parade, proceeds to go to maintain the band's uniforms and for scholarship and other band expenses.

Trophies for children entering the parade will be awarded to first, second and third places in seven different divisions:

Single costumed entries, under 8 years; single costumed entries 8 to 12 years; costumed group entries (two to three members), under 8 years; costumed group entries, 8 to 12 years;

Wheeled vehicles other than bikes, one class up to 12 years;

Parks Dealt To L.G. City

Four local parks and a community center have been transferred by the Board of Supervisors to the City of Lemon Grove through a resolution adopted by a 5-0 vote.

The facilities are the Lemon Grove Park, Monterey Heights Park, Skyline Drive Park, Mount Vernon Park and Lemon Grove Community Center.

When County-owned parks lie within the boundaries of an incorporated city, the Board may convey ownership without monetary consideration.

This may be done only if the city agrees to continue the operation and maintenance as a public park open to all residents of the County.

bikes (two-wheeled), under 8 years; bikes 8 to 12 years.

No skateboards, horses, or motor-driven vehicles will be allowed among children's entries.

The criteria for judging are: originality of entry, 30 points; originality based on child's own effort, 10 points; effectiveness, 20 points; effectiveness based on child's own effort, 10 points; cleanliness and neatness, 10 points and good behavior, 20 points for a grand total of 100 points possible.

Awards will also be given for scout groups and others who participated in last Saturday's Clean-Up Day sponsored by the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce.

Variances OK'd For Properties On L.G. Broadway

The Lemon Grove Planning Commission Monday night OK'd a variance for the Thrifty Oil Station at Palm and Imperial. They are being permitted to reduce the setback from 80 to 72 feet on Imperial and 75 to 70 on Palm. The adjacent property, a vacant lot, is in the same ownership and a condition is that the lot not be used in connection with the station and that a suitable barrier be erected to prevent the use. It was also required that the station file a landscape plan with Planning Director James R. Butler.

Trainer Tire, 6994 A Broadway, had asked a variance for a larger sign on its wall. It was approved providing the present sign (52 sq. ft.) not be enlarged and a new sign (109 sq. ft.) is restricted to the east side of the building.

The request of Carl A. Mehr for an increase in permissible height of a freestanding sign from 25 to 35 feet for his 64-unit motel now being constructed at 8429 Broadway was approved.

So was the request of Philip and Sharon Smith for reduction in backyard setback for parking from 35 to 30 feet at 1072 Glencoe dr.

Two hearings are being continued. Leonard Cook's request to convert a single family dwelling to a duplex at 2145 Washington st. will be heard October 9, and the Planning Commission's request to rezoned lots 1-35, Sonka Urban Heights from R-1 to R-1A to conform with the City's Community Plan will be heard October 23.

THAT'S REALLY A CLEAN SWEEP — Billy Reed, of Lemon Grove Boy Scout Troop 108, finishes up a trash pick-up run during last Saturday's Lemon Grove Clean-Up Day. Other scout troops taking part were 168 and 322, as well as Cub Packs 153, 318 and 338.

7 SV Residents Nabbed On Smuggling Charges

Law enforcement officials fanned out from the Sheriff's office in Lemon Grove Friday and took into custody 12 suspects allegedly involved in a marijuana smuggling ring.

10 of the suspects were apprehended by agents of the Drug Enforcement Administration, U.S. Customs officials, California Highway Patrol, the Sheriff's Department and the California Bureau of Narcotics Enforcement. 2 other suspects surrendered in court.

The ring allegedly smuggled 10 tons of marijuana into the U.S. on dirt bikes over a 3-year period.

All 12 were arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Edward A. Infante who set bail at $25,000 for 3 suspects and $10,000 for the remaining 9.

The $25,000 bail request came from Assistant U.S. Attorney Douglas Hendricks who identified the 3 as owners and distributors of the marijuana.

The alleged leaders, all residents of Spring Valley, were identified as James Edward Richards, 32, 8830 Crestmore ave.; Richard Dean Shapiro, 24, 745 Ashmore lane, and James Lee Weitzel, 30, 3625 S. Grenada st.

Charges in the indictments include conspiracy to smuggle marijuana; smuggling marijuana; conspiracy to smuggle marijuana; and possession of marijuana with intent to distribute.

The arrests followed a year-long investigation by the 5 agencies involved in the raid.

Bail at $10,000 was set for Michael Young, 23, 943 Grand ave., Spring Valley; Steven John Gell, 21, 304 Baker pl., National City; Michael Phillip Merrill, 21, 8243 Dorchester st., Spring Valley; Mathew Jordan Merrill, 20, 1143 Jamacha lane, Spring Valley; Richard Alan Leighton, 23, 8834 Noeline, Spring Valley; Malcom Woodrow Richards, 7404 Alvarado, La Mesa; Kevin Richards, 26, 7139 Casa lane, Lemon Grove.

'WANNA HEAR SOME PAGANINI?' — Making faces at a photographer is something even a virtuoso of the violin can do if he happens to be a 9-year-old kid. Binh Luu of Lemon Grove, youngest son of a family of Vietnamese refugees, proves even more expressive with his violin than with his face, as his enthusiastic teacher William Benner explains in the story on page 2.

A $15,000 BILL — Assemblyman Pete Chacon (right) presents Bill 2781 to Mayor Jim Dorman, after he personally rode it through the legislature. The Bill gives the newly incorporated city a bigger bite of fines collected for traffic infractions in the city. The ratio was raised from 75 to 92 per cent giving the City of Lemon Grove $15,000-$20,000 added revenue each year.

TOGETHERNESS — Mt. Helix' William Benner, "simply incredible," Benner says — "he compares favorably with any of the great prodigies." Binh Luu concertizes Saturday at the San Diego Woman's Clubhouse.

NOTHIN' TO IT — The flying fingers of Binh Luu of Lemon Grove flash across the strings of his violin, his face a picture of deceptive calm as he negotiates a tricky classical composition. Binh, a quiet 9-year-old, seems content to sit and smile as his teacher, William Benner, rhapsodizes over his abilities.

a television documentary to be recorded by a film crew from the San Francisco office of the Union of Pan-Asian Communities.

"They want to record his everyday activities, too," Benner said. "He's still a little boy, you know. He still needs to be told when it's time to practice."

Benner said a career as a solo violinist certainly awaits Binh Luu, if he wants it—"it can be a risky business financially, but Binh is totally unique."

"Many players who are not successful as soloists can become symphony players," Benner said.

"I think Binh should have a bit more musical maturity before he appears with a symphony, however, although technically I believe he can read and play anything put in front of him."

General admission tickets to Saturday's performance by Binh Luu are $5, $2.50 for students. Guarantor and Patron subscriptions are also available from The Committee to Sponsor Binh Luu, $50 for the Guarantor and $25 for the Patron (price includes two admissions to the Saturday concert).

Checks may be mailed to The Committee to Sponsor Binh Luu, P.O. Box 235, El Cajon, CA 92022. Tickets will also be available at the door.

There's An Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

Trying hard to keep going

Q. I had back surgery seven months ago, but I still have pain when I sit and walk. Plus I feel numb in my right hip. My doctor tells me I have to keep walking a lot. I know there is someone up there who loves me, but down here I think my husband gets tired of me because when I have sex with him I have more pain. Why? I am trying very hard to keep going.

A. Don't indulge in imaginings as to your husband's attitude towards you. It may be that you are developing an invalid psychology, which can adversely affect normal activity and relationships.

Keep on following your doctor's advice, but always think in terms of health. Try to act normal and we are sure the going will get better and better.

Perhaps you will find help in our booklet, "Healing . . . for Loved Ones and for You," which is on its way to you. Anyone wishing a free copy may write to us at Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Getting the silent treatment

Q. I work with a group of professionals. We are teachers. They ostracize me and give me the silent treatment. I have never done anything to them and have really tried to overlook this insensitive treatment. I have approached them about this matter, but they don't want to be bothered. Please help me. I am at the breaking point.

A. Though you feel you have not done anything to justify being ostracized and given the silent treatment, there must be a reason. People as educated as teachers usually do not unanimously treat a colleague in this manner without cause.

Maybe they don't want to be bothered because you are too defensive to accept what they say about you. You can find out how you turn people off if you really want to. And, furthermore, with God's help you can become a lovable, approachable person.

Difficult to like an alcoholic wife

Q. I thought I was a good and considerate husband during 18 years of marriage, but my wife thought I was not. We discussed things only in anger at the tops of our voices. Her way of coping with my bad habits was with alcohol. Now she has joined AA and is not drinking. I have realized through Analon that my actions were not in the best interests of a mature and happy marriage. But now my wife is distant and very unloving to me. I still love her, but sometimes I feel it very difficult to like her. Is there anything I should do or say to improve the situation?

A. You have written a very significant phrase: "I still love her, but sometimes I find it very difficult to like her."

Understanding is very important. An alcoholic can be acutely sensitive and often there is a carry-over of unhappy attitudes even when the individual becomes "dry."

Patience, thoughtfulness, esteem and loving concern should in time mitigate your wife's conflicting emotional holdovers.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564. If you would like to talk directly with a Prayer Partner, call Prayer Line (212) 532-2700. Reduced long-distance rates are in effect nights and weekends.

This Week's RECIPE

Low-Cal Lamb Kabobs

If sunny summer weather holds on into October, as usual in San Diego County, you might as well not put away the old barbecue unit just because summer is "over."

Now's as good a time as any to try another low-calorie barbecue dish from Weight Watchers International, a series begun in this paper during the summer months.

The dish is not only a delight to the palate, but can help in your quest for a trim wasteline.

- Low-Cal Lamb Kabobs
- 1 1/2 pounds boned leg of lamb, cut in 1-inch cubes
 - 2 medium green peppers, seeded and cut in 1-inch pieces
 - 20 cherry tomatoes
 - Barbecue Sauce (recipe follows)

Divide lamb and vegetables into four even portions; thread each portion on long skewer, alternating meat and each vegetable. Place kabobs on rack over hot coals. Grill for about 15 minutes, basting frequently with Barbecue Sauce and turning occasionally until done to taste. Makes four servings.

- Barbecue Sauce
- 2 tablespoons catsup
 - 2 tablespoons chili sauce
 - 1 tablespoon cider vinegar
 - 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
 - 1 teaspoon dehydrated onion flakes reconstituted in 1 teaspoon water
 - 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 - 1/2 teaspoon barbecue spice
 - 1/4 cup water

Historical Seminar On Cabrillo Set Today

The Cabrillo Festival's annual historical seminar, to be held at the Cabrillo National Monument from 1 to 4 p.m. today, will deal with the theme "Cabrillo — An International Perspective."

A panel of scholars moderated by Dr. James Moriarty, professor of history and anthropology at the University of San Diego, will present papers.

Cabrillo sailed into San Diego on September 28, 1542, and claimed the land for Carlos V of Spain, under whose sponsorship he was sailing. Today, Cabrillo is honored each year by the Festival bearing his name.

Professor Teixeira Mota and Dr. Louis Mendoca Abeurgedre, both from the Academia das Ciencias de Lisbon in Portugal will be presenting papers.

David Kelsey, curator of the Los Angeles Museum and Charles Carillo, a graduate student from San Diego State University will also present their papers.

Those interested in attending the free seminar should contact the Cabrillo National Monument, 293-5450, since seating is limited and must be reserved.

Film, Literature Topics of TV Class

The relationships between film and literature are the subjects of a television course being offered for credit this fall by San Diego State University Extension. The course, entitled "Film as Fiction," studies the parallels and differences between these two storytelling media.

Both film and literature must deal with the problems of communicating plot, characterization, theme, style, and symbolism, but a given film tells its story, develops its characters, and suggests ideas and attitudes in ways which are unique to it alone.

Dr. Thomas Nelson, Professor of English at San Diego State University, is the instructor for this television course which can be viewed on Mission Cable channels 4 and 23.

This home T.V. course begins the first week in October and will continue through December 7. The broadcast schedule is as follows: 7-8 p.m. Mondays, and 4-5 p.m. Tuesdays via Channel 23 (Mission Cable); and 10-11 a.m. Thursdays via Cable Channel 4.

Such notable films as "Nanook of the North," "The General," "Goldrush," and "Nosferatu" will be part of the study. Arrangements for college credit for this course can be made through SDSU Extension, at 286-5147.

More Food Produced By Home Gardeners

According to a survey, about 6 million acres were devoted to home gardens last year. There are about 32 million home gardens in the United States producing $14 billion worth of produce (using supermarket prices).

There has been a definite upward trend in the amount of food produced by backyard gardeners. The rising prices of fresh produce are probably partly responsible for this trend. According to USDA figures, fruit and vegetable prices have been increasing faster than those for any other food group. More and more people are becoming convinced that it can be cheaper to pick vegetables from their yards rather than buy them from the store.

In San Diego vegetable gardening need not end with the approach of fall. Now is actually the best time to prepare your garden for planting cool season vegetables like beets, broccoli, cabbage, lettuce and onions. If you are new to vegetable gardening, information in the University of California pamphlet "Home Vegetable Gardening" may help you. The pamphlet includes a calendar of when to plant different vegetables, how to care for them, along with harvest and storage information. For your free copy write to Cooperative Extension, Bldg. 4, 5555 Overland Avenue, San Diego 02123.

County Pro-Tem Job Given Bruhn

John A. Bruhn, who was assistant chief administrative officer in charge of the County's Fiscal and Justice Agency, has been appointed County Recorder on an interim basis until the post can be filled through the November general election.

The vacancy in the County Recorder's office occurred when both Harley F. Bloom, the elected official, and his chief deputy, John Clague, resigned effective Friday. Bruhn will take over the position Saturday. The County's Fiscal and Justice Agency, headed by Bruhn since February 1977, was eliminated from the County organization by a Board action on September 12 as part of the Board-ordered reorganization of the County structure.

Bruhn will serve as County Recorder until the election and qualification of one of the candidates in the November election who will take office at a time prescribed by law.

The interim appointment by the Board with a 4-0 vote, was made to provide an orderly administration of the department until the election and to avoid giving the appearance of unfair advantage to either of two candidates for the office. One of the candidates works in the County Recorder's office and the other is a clerk in the Superior Court.

The County Recorder's office accepts documents for official recording, produces and maintains a permanent record, and provides a means for citizens to locate and examine the records.

SV's MacLeod Brings New Ensemble to Fiesta

Spring Valley resident Charles MacLeod brings a personal dream to reality with the premiere performance of the new San Diego Chamber Players at Spring Valley's Fiesta Dinner Theatre on Monday, October 16, at 8 p.m.

MacLeod is well-recognized locally for his classical music experience as principal clarinetist with the San Diego Symphony. He also plays for the San Diego Opera and conducts at local ballet productions.

The director's involvement with music is total. His current leave of absence from Grossmont College's music faculty provides the time and attention needed for the development of a new chamber ensemble. He founded and formerly directed the Ventura Wind and percussion group. MacLeod's background in music includes training completed at Eastman School of Music, California State University at Northridge, the Marlboro Music Festival, and L'Ecole Montaux.

His confidence in the Chamber Players, who will perform music by Mozart, Dvorak, and Stravinsky, is high. "What we have here is a collection of 16 of the finest musicians in San Diego," MacLeod said.

Tickets for the October 16 performance are available by writing Fine Arts, Fiesta Dinner Theatre, 9665 Campo rd., Spring Valley 92077, or at the box office.

A $1 reduction for mail orders received before October 7, or for students, military or senior citizens, is offered, a discount from the regular ticket prices of $7, $8 and $9. Please enclose 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for mail orders. For further information, call 697-8977.

Women's 10-Day Net Tournney Tops Quarter Million Dollars

La Costa Hotel and Spa will host the $200,000 Clairol Crown Classic involving the world's top four women tennis players as well as a preceding $35,000 women's open event as part of a 10-day tournament schedule next spring.

The announcement was made jointly by Allard Roen, chairman of the board La Costa Hotel and Spa, Don Shea, president of Clairol, and Jerry Diamond, executive director of the Women's Tennis Association (WTA).

The total $235,000 prize money represents a record San Diego purse and the $100,000 awarded to the winner of the two-day Clairol Crown Classic is the largest ever offered in women's tennis.

Two players already have qualified for the Clairol Crown Classic to be played March 31 and April 1, Wimbledon winner Martina Navratilova and U.S. Open champion Chris Evert. The third player will be the winner of the United States winter tour and the fourth will be selected prior to the event. Evonne Goolagong, Billie Jean King and Virginia Wade are candidates for the remaining two spots.

Sponsorship of the women's open event will be announced soon. That tournament will have a 32-player draw with a 32-person qualifying and will take its field from the entire WTA membership, excluding the four players in the Clairol Crown Classic. Players who could compete include Kerry Reid, Wendy Turnbull, Sue Barker, Greer Stevens, Betty Stove, Tracy Austin and Pam Shriver. The event will be played March 23-March 30 with a first place prize of $6,000.

"We expect this tournament to attract a top-flight international field," Diamond said. "The event fully counts toward Colgate series points."

The playing of back to back major events at the same site is unique in women's tennis and is the result of an attempt by all involved to provide fans with a varied schedule for their attention.

"We believe that the Clairol Crown Classic, bringing together the world's best players for a two-day showdown, is of major significance in women's tennis," Roen said. "The format and the field certainly are complimentary to La Costa's tradition of hosting only events that have major spectator appeal."

"But there are many other talented women players as well as several young stars who certainly are making their presence felt on the tour who will not have qualified for the Clairol Crown Classic. We want fans to be able to see these players in action and we expect they will have that opportunity during the open event."

"The WTA is extremely pleased to have both events in San Diego County," Diamond said. "Women's tennis never before has been represented in this area in this magnitude. We are excited because San Diego County certainly has demonstrated its high interest in professional tennis."

In addition to the winner's share of $100,000 for the Clairol Crown Classic winner, the runner-up will receive $50,000 with $30,000 for third and $20,000 for fourth.

The event will be carried on live television 90 minutes Saturday with winners meeting in Sunday's final and losers playing to determine third place.

Tickets for the Clairol Crown Classic may now be reserved by calling the tournament office at La Costa.

Amateur Boxers Please Fans on Coliseum Card

It was a grand fight night for amateurs Friday at the S.D. Coliseum.

10 bouts, each of them offering plenty of action, pleased the crowd of boxing fans who were admitted free of charge.

It was listed as a regular monthly affair of the San Diego Amateur Boxing Club as part of its Youth Development program, according to Danny Millsap, promoter at the Coliseum.

20 scrappers, most of them local, gave their all to the manly art of self-defense.

Trophies were awarded to participants of the best bouts.

Winners were: Manuel Beral and Tony Lanza who fought to a draw; Scott Baker and Rene Garcia with Baker taking the bout in a unanimous decision, and Bernard Graham and Alan Smith with Smith winning the bout by a single point.

Scott Baker, a local welterweight, won an additional trophy by being judged the best boxer of the evening.

Steel Cage Holds Wrestlers Together On Coliseum Card

The Coliseum's Professional Wrestling evening starts early Tuesday. Doors open at 5:30 p.m. and television showing of the baseball playoffs will be shown. That would cause the wrestling to get under way about 8:30.

When grappling starts, Black Gordman meets Goliath in a steel cage, 8 feet high. Goliath ran out of the ring on Gordman Tuesday. Next week he's caged in but if he's able to get out he is the winner.

There is also the return of the former world champion wrestler Pedro Morales who engages Pak Choo.

Twin Devils meets Don Diamond and The Continental Lover mixes with Hector Guerrero.

One other bout has been pencilled in but the antagonists are yet to be signed.

For those who missed it, Roddy Piper, bereft of his 2 titles—the L.A. TV Championship and member of the U.S. Champion Tag team, has left town. It was part of the agreement.

In the 7 other bouts, Tiger Dean Wilson, son of light heavyweight scrapper Ronnie Wilson, lost to Julio Compos. They are paperweight but Compos was too big for Wilson. A girl fighter, Nancy Thompson, a 21-year-old ex-sailor fought to a draw with a rugged little boxer, Rocky Murphy of the Fighting Murphy clan. Thompson said she is turning professional in October.

Freddie Garcia won a split decision over Lewis Rios; Ernest Gizoni had a technical knockout win over Bruce Faran; Jesse Arevalo beat Francisco Herrera in a hard-fought battle.

Bob San Jose earned a unanimous decision over Marcus King and Gary Sherouse beat Jesse Island.

Future amateur cards will be interspersed with professional programs, Millsap said.

As it looks now the pros will fight early in the month. Millsap is attempting to get an opponent for Ronnie Wilson. Amateurs will take over probably on the 3rd Friday.

Champagne Race Due on Monday

Waiters and waitresses wishing to enter San Diego's 3rd Annual Champagne Foot Race scheduled for downtown San Diego on Monday, October 2, still have time to do so, race officials announced today. The Race expects to draw entries from throughout San Diego County and pits competing restaurants against one another in one of our city's most hilarious races. The deadline for entries with a $15 entry fee a person has been extended to Friday, at 5 p.m.

Rules for the race are simple: any presently employed San Diego County waiter or waitress may enter—up to 4 entries per restaurant allowed. Runners compete in heats of 4 abreast and must circle one city block carrying a full glass of champagne on a 12" cocktail tray. Whoever reaches the finish line in the quickest possible time wins a color television set and champagne.

Other prizes include $125 cash award for 2nd place, $75 for 3rd place and a special consolation award for the "Slowest Waiter/Waitress in Town." Anyone returning to the finish line with less than half a glass of champagne will be automatically disqualified for "sipping along the way," race officials say.

All entries must run in the uniform of their restaurant with the exception of women who usually wear long skirts. Shorts are allowed in that instance and tennis shoes are allowed for all participants.

The race starts at Ten Down st., 1250 6th at A. Phone contact is 299-3718 9-5.

Mustangs in Tie For Top in Pop Warner Grid Play

By Bill Ott

The running of Steve Hill and Jerry Arrayan, combined with a stingy defense that has allowed just one touchdown in 3 games, has pushed the Los Toros Jr. Midget Mustangs to a 3-0 mark and a first place tie in S.D. County Pop Warner Football action.

The Mustangs bid for their fourth straight win Saturday night when they host Balboa in an 8 p.m. contest at Monte Vista High School.

In their 1978 season opener, the Mustangs rolled by Kearny Mesa, 24-0, followed by a 12-0 shutout over arch-rival Skyline. Last Saturday morning the Mustangs traveled to Mira Mesa and blasted the host team, 28-6.

Hill, who just a month ago was throwing strikes for the Lemon Grove Little League team, is off to a fast start on the football field. In 3 games he's scored 6 touchdowns and booted 3 PATs.

Arrayan joined Hill in the Mustang backfield in the third game of the season after scoring on an end-around play against Skyline. He broke several tackles and romped 70 yards to put the Mustangs ahead 6-0 in the 12-0 win over Skyline.

Last Saturday at Mira Mesa, Arrayan carried the ball 10 times and finished with 84 yards rushing. He finished the day with one touchdown and two successful PATs.

Defensive standouts, in addition to Hill and Arrayan, in the first 3 games have been David McFarland, Theo Barley, Richard Garcia, Eric Land, Jim Ellard and Alex Ocasio.

M.V. Student Attends Japan Sports Festival

Valerie Mark, 17, is a student at Monte Vista High school who lettered in long distance running. She is an American Field Service student in Nagano, Japan and will return to Monte Vista in February after 13 months abroad. Here are excerpts from a recent family letter:

"Today we attended the All Japan National Sports Festival—Summer Section. One of my school friends is competing in the diving competition and one of my teachers is head of the Sports Festival."

"This section is swimming and diving. In the Fall will be gymnastics, horsemanship and basketball. Other events are scattered in Nagano-ken (county). I hope to see the Track and Field meet to be in Matsumoto."

"The Festival is held in a different prefecture each year. Luckily it was here this year and we were given tickets."

"Today, the emperor's son was guest of honor. A red carpet was rolled out for him and his wife who sat at poolside. He looks like his father except for his black hair. He is very small, with long legs and a funny little voice. He is from an imperial line extending over thousands of years. His wife, whom he met on a tennis court, is the daughter of a flour store owner."

"I made lasagna with the stuff you sent and they really liked it. I learned that you can cut it if you let it cool. 'Papa' likes it a lot since he doesn't care much for rice."

"Love, Val."

Amateur Boxing Cards

Amateurs return to the Coliseum's boxing ring on October 14.

Promoter Danny Millsap, pleased with last week's amateur matches, has also scheduled an amateur card for October 27.

A professional fight card is planned for October 20, he said.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

It isn't that I'm against my daughter getting married. It's just that her timing is so bad. Susie has always been like that.

The San Diego Padres are home for their last clash of the season and look whom they're facing? The division winners and pennant hopeful Los Angeles Dodgers, that's who.

Now ain't that a pretty 3-game series to take in over the weekend? You bet your sweet bippy it is. Chances are manager Roger Craig will test the arms of a couple of phenoms up from the Hawaiian roster now that the Dodgers have a lock on the division crown. If they're gonna do it next year, why not do it now?

Craig is interested in seeing how Juan Eichelberger and Steve Mura behave under enemy five. Eichelberger is a flame-throwing right hander who could get a leg up on making the team next year if he does well against the Dodgers. The same goes for Mura. He has a curve they say, that breaks on a 90 degree angle.

The big attraction over the weekend, of course, is the old gent, himself, Gaylord Perry. The hero of the Geritol Set will have back to back assignments, closing out the season in search of a second Cy Young award, then hanging loose all winter before taking on the opening day duties next campaign, an assignment already made by mentor Roger Craig.

It's possible that 5 National League award winners will suit up for the Padres and have a hand in the final game of the year.

Ozzie Smith is a prime candidate for Rookie of the Year honors, Rolfe Fingers is out in front of the Firemen's race, Perry, if there is any justice in the world, has a lock on the Cy Young award. Roger has to be considered for the National League's "Manager of the Year" crown and while he's something of an outside chance, Dave Winfield certainly is in the running for Most Valuable Player honors.

Now, with all that going, Padre Stadium is certainly where you'd normally expect to find happiness this weekend.

Not so at our house. Susie is getting married this weekend. Without even looking at the sports calendar, or asking if we were busy, she just picked out the date to suit her own fancy.

Dave, her intended, is a nice, hard working, rather quiet young fellow who served in Vietnam while in the Army, and came home with a pretty good idea of who he is and what he wants.

He makes a pretty good living as a service writer for an auto dealership and has a delightful young son from a former marriage who already calls me "grand-paw." Both of 'em are baseball fans.

Susie is the last of the "Miss Chargers," a position that was disbanded after she sided with striking players and walked the picket line with them during their "labor dispute" of a few years back. Susie was also the prettiest and most active usherette at Padre games when girls were first added to the squad.

With that sports background you'd think she would know better than to plan on committing marriage during the last home stand of the season.

The first game is out. Wedding practice, you know. Then an afternoon ceremony is planned that all but wipes out the second game. I told her to get married in the morning, then if the thing doesn't work out, you haven't ruined the entire day.

One thing for sure, Sunday is gonna see me at the ball park, cheering my fool head off for Gaylord Perry. Us old Dads have to stick together. Besides, I think I know where he hides the stuff he supposedly uses on the ball. Hidden behind what is left of his gray hair, Perry has a suspicious looking mark on his right ear lobe.

The story is, he had his ears pierced and the lobe of his right ear hollowed out. One squeeze and he's good for a strike out. I wanna see how many times he tugs at his ear, you know what I mean?

Besides, while Susie and her mother, my lively wife, demand my presence at the wedding, no one said nothin' about going along on the honeymoon. So I guess Sunday is gonna be free.

I asked Dave if he wanted to join me, but after he thought it over a minute, he said "No, I don't think I could get away with that . . . yet."

Padres Season Ends With Dodgers Series

For the Padres, the season is over save 3 games to be played at the Big Stadium Friday, Saturday and Sunday with the Dodgers as season-closing guest.

With the attendance record safely in the books, and with a season standings target of .500 a safe bet, Pad players turned to the fun game of naming their all-opponent team of the season.

L.A. Dodgers first baseman Steve Garvey and Dave Parker the Pittsburgh Pirates right fielder topped the list with 19 out of a possible 23 votes. Parker was also named the Padres Player of the Year. Padres were not allowed to vote for teammates.

In other choices, Garvey is joined in the infield by teammate Davey Lopes at second base, Pete Rose of Cincinnati at third base and Philadelphia's Larry Bowa at short-stop. Lopes had a 12-7 margin over the Giants' Bill Madlock. Rose was only an 11-8 winner over Enos Cabell of Houston, while Bowa had a sizeable lead over the Reds' Dave Concepcion and Gary Templeton of St. Louis.

Parker was joined in the outfield by Cincinnati's

George Foster in left and Gary Maddox of the Phillies in center. Foster received 17 votes, Maddox 13 as 8 different players received center-field votes.

Ted Simmons of St. Louis was an easy winner at catcher, receiving 17 votes.

Phil Niekro of Atlanta was the Padres' choice as the National League's top right handed pitcher, garnering 12 votes to 6 for Houston's J. R. Richard. San Francisco's Vida Blue was a 17-6 winner over Montreal's Ross Grimsley for top left-handed pitcher. Blue and Niekro each received 7 votes to tie as the players' pick for pitcher of the year.

Parker again was an easy winner as player-of-the-year, picking up 11 votes to 5 for the runner-up, George Foster. Atlanta third baseman Bob Horner with 19 votes easily was rookie of the year choice with Braves pitcher Larry McWilliams edging Pittsburgh's Don Robinson 13-10 for rookie pitcher of the year honors.

Wilver Stargell of Pittsburgh was voted comeback player of the year by Padre players. Stargell received 18 votes, with nobody else getting more than 2.

Adduono Signs With Hawks

Ray Adduono, a centerman with a proven track record in San Diego has signed a contract with the Hawks' Pacific Hockey League team.

Adduono averaged a point a game (171) on 41 goals and 131 assists, while playing with San Diego WHA Mariners 1974-1977.

Hawk coach Ron Ingram expressed delight in obtaining Adduono, whom he described as being close to the greatest minor pro-scorer he has ever seen.

"He was one of the players responsible for San Diego playing so well in the WHA," commented Ingram. "We expect him to help give us a strong contender this season" in the PHL.

Local fans can recall the memorable 1977 playoff series against Winnipeg, when Adduono returned from a serious leg injury to key a pair of victories and a near-upset of the powerful Jets. Ingram matched Adduono against Winnipeg's dazzling Swede, Ulf Nilsson, who now enjoys a multi-million dollar contract with the New York Rangers, and San Diego forced the series to a 7th and deciding contest.

Adduono, 31, divided last season between Indianapolis of the WHA and Thunder Bay in the Ontario Senior League.

The Hawks open training camp at the House of Ice in mid October and begin regular season play November 9 in Spokane. The first game is on November 15 at the Sports Arena.

Cajon Oval Down To Last 3 Cards —Grand Prix Sat.

Only the Grand Prix remains on the Cajon Speedway schedule of regular events.

That will be run Saturday after which comes the open competition super stock race on October 7 and the finale—U.S. Racing Club midget Grand Prix on October 14.

Saturday's Grand Prix will offer a 9-event card featuring a 50-lapper with 22 cars scheduled to start. Feature races are traditionally 40 laps.

Saturday, Ron Esau, already riding with his champion crown riding partly on his head, won the main event for the 6th time. He won the Grand Prix 3 times—in 1974, 1976 and 1977. His father George captured the event in 1975.

The Saturday event will also mark the final regular season appearance of veteran driver Tex Kimbrell. The 49-year-old plumber has picked up 2 CSCRA championships—1965 and 1968.

Lemon Grove Chargette (ex) Says Flesh Test Should Halt

By Max Goodwin

Tommy Prothro's resignation as head coach of the Chargers is not the result of the Chargettes plight—the 20 girls who formed the team's cheering squad.

But it may have seemed the proper end result to the girl watchers who approve feminine loveliness on the gridiron.

One of the chicks removed by the Chargers' "turn in your not even transportation expenses. Practice sessions had to be arranged to accommodate the most girls and started in the early evening until about 10 o'clock every night. That usually meant missing dinner or eating out—if you could afford it.

"Dry cleaning, which was mandatory, cost each girl $4 a week. Usually a pair of pantsy hose wore out at each game. That's $3. Gas and food added to the expense of being on a squad cheering for a team we didn't even get to meet. We didn't know who we were cheering for."

So much for the hardships. There were some positive observations Charlie offered, too.

"If there is another cheering squad a contractual arrangement should be made with cancellation clauses, rate of pay, and establishing a line of authority. It should give the franchise control of the situation."

"We paid for much of our uniforms as little as there was. This added to our other expenses connected with the job made being a cheer leader a luxury which few of the girls could truly afford.

"Football clubs should quit being competitive to see how much flesh cheer leaders could show. The girls are respected members of their communities and it is demeaning to be used solely as sex symbols. If NFL decreed that all cheering squad uniforms should be brief but in good taste, it wouldn't distract from the game and add to the show business element—which is what football is basically."

"Uniforms should be standard throughout the league with only team colors to distinguish one squad from another."

"Fans have indicated that they want cheer leaders. Unquestionably the Chargers will have another squad. If stringent rules are written and followed to the letter, there would be none of the embarrassment that came with the separation of the Chargettes from the Chargers operation," she said.

43,000 Seats Now Reserved for Dec. Holiday Bowl Game

Tickets are continuing to sell for the 1978 Holiday Bowl. The game will be Friday, December 22, in 52,000 seat San Diego Stadium. The Holiday Bowl will feature the champion of the Western Athletic Conference (WAC) against a major nationally ranked opponent.

"To date, we have sold over 26,000 seats to the game," said Executive Director Les Land. "When you include the 8,500 seats that must be given to each participating school, that means over 43,000 seats are already committed for the game."

Ticket and membership applications for the Holiday Bowl are available daily at the Bowl ticket office, Gate F, San Diego Stadium.

Meanwhile, some football fans from Provo, Utah, the site of Brigham Young U., believe that their school will represent the WAC in the 1978 Holiday Bowl. Somebody from the Provo area has reserved a total of 500 hotel rooms in the Holiday Inn Embarcadero for the week of December 22.

Coryell Replaces Tommy Prothro; Leads Chargers to Foxboro Sunday

Don Coryell makes his debut as head coach of the San Diego Chargers in Foxboro, Mass., where the Chargers play the New England Patriots Sunday at 10 a.m. (PDT).

Coryell replaced Tommy Prothro, who resigned as the Chargers' head coach Monday following a 24-3 loss to the Green Bay Packers that left the Chargers with a 1-3 record.

Coryell posted a 42-27-1 record as head coach of the St. Louis Cardinals from 1973-77. Coryell was head coach of S.D. State U. prior to joining the Cardinals and his teams posted a 104-19-2 record from 1961-72, during which time Coryell helped develop several players who went on to star in the NFL and put the S.D. State program into national focus.

The Chargers lead 12-10-2 in the New England rivalry that began in 1960. The Pats have won the last 3 meetings, 30-14 at New England in 1973, 33-19 at San Diego in 1975, and 24-20 at San Diego in 1977. The Chargers' last victory was 16-14 in 1970 at Harvard Stadium, Cambridge, Mass.

Last year running back Sam Cunningham gained 141 yards in 25 carries and quarterback Steve Grogan's 4-yard touchdown pass to tight end Don Hasselbeck with 3:09 left in the fourth quarter gave New England a 24-13 lead.

The Chargers reduced the deficit to 24-20 on a 16-yard pass, Bill Munson to Charlie Joiner.

Chargers offensive coordinator Ray Perkins coached New England's wide receivers and tight ends 1974-77. Chargers defensive backfield coach Larry Weaver coached the Patriots' defensive backs from 1973-76. Patriots center Bill Lenkaitis was a member of the Chargers from 1968-70.

Don Coryell coached the St. Louis Cardinals to a 24-17 over New England at Busch Stadium, St. Louis, in 1975. It was the only game Coryell coached against the Patriots.

Last week the Chargers' defense sacked Green Bay quarterback David Whitehurst 10 times for 83 yards in losses. The achievement bettered the club record of 8 sacks (versus Oakland, 1962, and versus New Orleans, 1977) and has been bettered only eight times in NFL history. The Chargers lead the NFL with 20 quarterback sacks for 155 yards in losses. Green Bay is second with 17 sacks. Washington is third with 15.

End Fred Dean leads the Chargers with 6½ sacks for 50 yards; Dean had 6 for 49 in 11 games last season. Tackle Gary (Big Hands) Johnson has 4½ sacks for 49 yards.

NBC will televise the game and KSDO (1130) will provide radio coverage beginning at 7:30 a.m.

Mickey Wright's Record Is Nancy Lopez's Aim

Nancy Lopez has accomplished numerous incredible feats in her rookie year on the LPGA tour but she'll have to turn on the afterburners to fulfill her two ambitions for 1978.

Nancy with the sparkling eyes and laughing face has said she wanted to surpass the great Mickey Wright's record of 13 tournament victories in one year (1963) and to become the first woman to win $200,000.

Heading into the $100,000 Golden Lights Championship, which starts today at Calabasas Park Country Club, Lopez has won 8 tournaments and $162,117.

That makes Nancy $37,883 and 5 tournaments short of her goals with only 5 more official tournaments to be played.

Obviously, the money mark is now her primary target. She would have to average $7,557 in each of the five events to become the first woman of the 200 Grand Club.

This would be an extraordinary achievement when you realize that only 14 men pros, who play for more than three times as much money, have ever scaled that lofty plateau.

Billy Casper was the first when he bagged $205,168 in 1968 when Nancy was 11 years old.

It took the incomparable Jack Nicklaus 9 years to do it until he earned $244,490 in 1971.

Other members of this elite fiscal group are Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino, Tom Watson, Tim Wieskopf, Johnny Miller, Bruce Crampton, Ben Crenshaw, Hubert Green, Hale Irwin, Bruce Lietzke, Lanny Wadkins and Andy Bean.

Richie Spears Gets SDSU Coaching Post

Richie Spears, a former coach of the Quebec women's basketball team, has been named head women's basketball coach at San Diego State University, announced Mary Hill, associate director of athletics at SDSU.

The 37 year old from New Waterford, Nova Scotia, coached the Quebec women's team from 1972-75 and assisted with the men's Canadian team prior to the 1976 Olympics.

At Dawson College in Montreal, Spears guided the men's team to 3 Quebec championships, one national title and 126-16 record over a 4-year period.

After a playing stint at Acadia U. in his collegiate days where he was the leading scorer in the country in 1962 and Most Valuable Player in the national championship tournament in 1963, he was drafted by the St. Louis Hawks. Spears played two years professionally in Belgium before assuming a coaching career. Spears graduated in 1964 from Acadia with a Bachelor of Arts in Economics.

PTA 'Appalled' By Communications Bill

Editor:

The following is a letter sent to Rep. Lionel Van Deelen (D-San Diego), approved September 11, 1978 by the Board of Directors of the 9th district PTA.

Dear Mr. Van Deelen:

In this age when consumers in all fields are beginning to feel more responsibility for speaking out and for requiring business enterprises to be equally responsible, I am appalled to see proposals in the new communications bill that would take away those rights. Surely the public, having found its voice, will rise up in indignation and use it to proclaim against perpetual licenses for radio and television stations.

If the bill should be passed as it stands, it is not difficult to predict a diet of almost wholly network shows with even more commercials taking the place of former public service announcements given to charitable and other nonprofit groups. You could say goodbye to all but a few shallow newscasts, to most documentaries, to community interest programs and to the smaller-audience programs dealing with the problems of minorities, children, women and the poor.

Though there are too many complexities for me to form valid opinions on many parts of the bill, there are a couple of other items that disturb me.

One of the proposals that bothers me is the removal of restrictions on editorializing and the endorsement of political candidates in public television. On commercial television we are accustomed to political advertising and cam-

Her evaluation is slightly different from those voiced to the press by other members of the cheering squad.

"I wouldn't go back if they paid me," said Charlie. "There was no communication between the front office and the Chargettes. No one seemed to know what was expected of them. We were paid nothing,

SD' Ballet To Perform At S'Western College

The San Diego Ballet Company will perform at Southwestern College October 5 and 6, 8 p.m. in Mayan Hall. A special children's performance will also be held Saturday, October 7, at 11 a.m.

The October performance features Keith Martin and Theresa Bacall in "Raymonda Pas de Dix," classic ballet at its best and most intricate. Also on the program are "La Femme," "Giselle Peasant Pas de Deux," featuring Regina Heimer and Ricardo Moyano, and "Firebird" with Helen Dexter.

"Tarantella" will be performed October 6 along with "Lonely One," featuring B. J. Martin, "Scenes de Ballet," with Susan Guenther and Stephen Rockford, "Flower Festival at Genzano," with Theresa Bacall and Keith Martin, and "Firebird" performed by Helen Dexter.

Keith Martin was principal dancer with the Royal Ballet, the Pennsylvania Ballet and the San Francisco Ballet. In 1976 he was invited to direct San Diego Ballet's production of "Swan Lake." The production was so successful that he was offered the position of director of the company. Martin's work has established the San Diego Ballet as one of the fastest moving professional ballet companies in the United States.

'Wait Until Dark' Opens At Fiesta Dinner Theatre

"Wait Until Dark," the suspense thriller written by Fredrick Knott, opened at Spring Valley's Fiesta Dinner Theatre last night.

Knott, who raised goose-pimples and frayed nerves with his "Dial M for Murder," proves his mastery of the chilling melodrama with his tale of a sightless but capable young housewife who evens the odds against three criminals who threaten her life.

Frank Wayne, Fiesta's executive director, sets the tempo for excitement and terror as the cruel musclemen attempt recovery of a heroin-filled doll whose value is unknown by the terrorized blind girl.

Reservations for "Wait Until Dark" are available for performances nightly except Monday. Cocktails are available. Regular admission for evenings: Tuesday, $10; Wednesday and Thursday, $11.50; Sunday and Friday, $12; Saturday, $13.50. Wednesday and Sunday matines are $9.

San Diego Trust & Savings Bank

LANDMARK

COMBINATION SAVING → CHECKING ACCOUNT

INTEREST ON ALL YOUR MONEY.

Beginning November 1, you can earn interest on all your money. You simply open a Landmark Combination Saving → Checking Account with us. It's a whole new way to bank.

As you probably know, a bank cannot legally pay you interest on your checking account. But beginning November 1, we can automatically transfer funds from your savings account to your checking account to cover your checks. We transfer just enough to cover each check as it comes in. We also transfer from your checking to your savings, so you always have a zero balance in checking, and a maximum balance in savings, where it is doing you the most good.

A Landmark savings account pays 5% compounded-daily, which gives an annual yield of 5.13%. You can actually earn more money in this Account than if you placed your savings in a higher interest account and maintained a separate checking account. The reason is that none of your money is "locked up" in a checking account earning no interest. The Table at the bottom of this page shows the annual gain for a person that presently has a $3,000 savings balance and a separate checking account that has an average balance of $900, which is typical. Come into any of our Branches and we can show you what your benefits will be, using your own account balances.

How to get a Landmark Account

We are accepting applications for the Landmark account now, so that a Checking account can become a Landmark account automatically as soon as our MONEY MANAGEMENT TRANSFER SERVICE is legally available. This new regulation is scheduled to be effective November 1, 1978. Stop by one of our convenient offices and sign a signature card, an application and a Money Management Transfer authorization. Until the legal start-up date, keep only what you need in your Checking account by using your 7/24 card to electronically transfer funds between your Savings and Checking accounts. You can maximize your interest-earning Savings now, and when the Landmark Money Management Transfer becomes available, we will do it for you.

Add interest to your life...

Assume you now have a $3,000 savings account and a checking account which has an average balance of $900. WITH THE NEW LANDMARK ACCOUNT YOU COULD BE EARNING INTEREST ON THE WHOLE $3,900.

Type of Present Savings Account	Present Interest	LANDMARK INTEREST	YOUR ANNUAL GAIN

S & L 90-Day Account	$177.55	$199.94	$22.39

SDG&E Gives 36¢ Dividend On Company's Common Stock

The board of directors of San Diego Gas & Electric has declared a quarterly dividend of 36 cents per share on the company's common stock, an increase of two cents. The dividend is payable October 15, 1978, to shareholders of record September 20, 1978.

R. E. Morris, company president, said the dividend increase reflects the board of directors' recognition of the need to maintain a competitive yield on SDG&E's common stock.

The board, he said, plans to review the dividend payout periodically to ensure that an investment in the company will be commensurate with similar investment opportunities in the market.

Noting that the increase amounts to about 6 per cent, Morris said, the company hopes to continue a program of regular dividend increases so that shareholders, at the very least, will keep up with inflation.

The last increase was declared a year ago. It was four cents a share and was the first increase since 1972.

A summary of the County's 1978-79 budget, including the intended uses of the revenue sharing funds, is available for public inspection in the Office of Management and Budget, Room 211, at the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, San Diego.

YOU AND YOUR PET

By Robert L. St.M. D.V.

Pet Cavities?

One question often asked of veterinarians during checkups is "does my pet have any cavities?"

Generally the answer is no. The thick layer of dental enamel found in dogs and cats and the relatively small amount of decay-causing carbohydrates in their natural diets resist the development of tooth decay. A more serious dental problem for domesticated pets is the accumulation of tartar and gum problems resulting from diets of soft processed foods.

In the wild, wolves, coyotes, lions and the like feed primarily on meat, tearing it into small pieces and gnawing it from bones. In contrast, many domesticated cats and dogs eat softened bite-size pieces of processed foods. Some of these foods contain considerable amounts of sugar and starch. The pets have little opportunity for scraping their teeth clean as they eat.

When your pet eats soft foods, food particles and saliva combine through the action of bacteria to form tartar — a sticky substance which hardens and forms brownish rings around the base of the teeth. This accumulation of tartar irritates gum tissue forcing the gum away from the base of the tooth. The gum swells and bleeds easily and the tooth finally falls out. The accumulation of tartar also causes the pet to develop bad breath.

If tartar buildup is minimal, the pet can retard its accumulation by regular gnawing on a hard bone — preferably a knuckle or shin bone. A synthetic bone or rubber toy that is hard enough to scrape the surface of the teeth as the dog chews is also good. Chicken or other thin bones and soft rubber toys are of no value. If your pet is cooperative, you can use a moist cotton ball dipped in table salt to clean tooth surfaces close to the gum line.

In advanced cases of tartar buildup, professional assistance is necessary. Your veterinarian will remove all tartar, including that below the gum line, as the first phase of treatment. Teeth that are too loose to be saved will be extracted.

Your veterinarian may also prescribe antibiotics and vitamins to reduce gum infection and swelling, and apply an antiseptic to the gum surface.

To prevent tooth problems from recurring, you'll have to discuss a new diet for the pet with your veterinarian. He or she may recommend a dry, hard pet food, fewer treats of soft table foods or hard chew toys. Without these changes, tartar will almost certainly return in a few months.

Sometimes tartar accumulation goes unnoticed until most of the pet's teeth are loose or missing. If this happens, your pet can continue to live a happy (although toothless) life, after your veterinarian administers the proper dental hygiene and suggests a suitable diet.

Keith Boyer has been named acting registrar of voters for the County of San Diego. The announcement was made by Daniel Boggan, Jr., head of the County's Community Services Agency.

Boyer replaces R. T. Denny who retired. Boyer has worked in the registrar's office for 7 years and served as assistant registrar of voters before his appointment as acting registrar.

Before coming to the County, Boyer worked in various positions in the aerospace industry in the area of planning and control dealing with budgets and schedules.

Boyer has a B.S. degree in math from Ohio State and a masters degree in management science from USIU.

Many Seniors Missing Property Tax Assistance

State Controller Kenneth Cory said many older Californians appear to be passing up their Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance this year because of confusion created by Proposition 13.

"A considerable drop in claims for assistance apparently results from an erroneous belief that Proposition 13 either eliminated the property tax assistance for older homeowners or reduced taxes so greatly that the assistance is no longer important," Cory said.

"Not only is the program in full force, but this year it applies to 1977-78 property taxes paid before Proposition 13 became effective. This will be the last opportunity for older homeowners of limited income to get assistance with their highest tax bills."

Cory said homeowners over age 62 whose total household income is $12,000 or less still have until October 2 to file for property tax assistance for this year.

"So far only about 229,000 applications have been received as compared to 280,000 at the same point in the filing period last year," Cory said. "Almost 148,000 claims have been paid at slightly over $39 million while last year at the same point there were almost 229,000 paid claims totalling more than $56 million."

Assistance payments so far this year averaged $264 as compared to $239 last year, indicating the growth in tax

Ethnic Data Sought On School Lunches

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman has issued interim regulations requiring certain schools to collect racial and ethnic data on children who apply for free and reduced price meals in the school lunch and breakfast programs.

The schools required to collect this information are the 9,000 public schools participating in the October 1978 civil rights survey conducted by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (H.E.W.).

"The purpose of the data collection is to determine if all children have the opportunity to benefit equally from the school lunch and breakfast programs and to assure that free and reduced price lunches and breakfasts are made available without regard to race, color or national origin," Foreman said. "I intend that the language of the survey will make this clear."

The data collection is required to comply with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibits discrimination on the grounds of race, color, or national origin in programs receiving Federal assistance. The information collected will be confidential and will be used only to assure that all children are receiving benefits on an equitable basis, without regard to race, color, or national origin.

Comments on the regulations are invited from state and local school personnel and from the general public. All comments will be considered before final regulations are adopted.

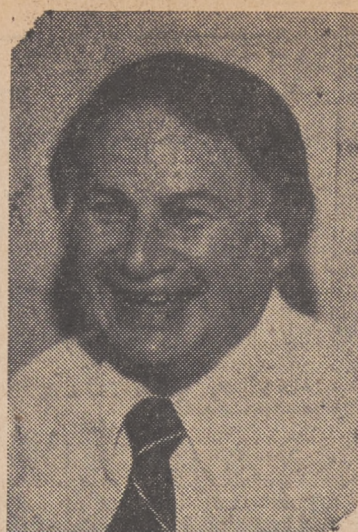

Written comments should be submitted to Margaret O'K Glavin, Director, School Programs Division, Food and Nutrition Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

It's Your Money

By John Foley

Opening of the new gambling casinos in Atlantic City has not slowed up the action in Las Vegas. Gross revenues for current fiscal year: $1.7 billion — up 21% over 1977 — the State of Nevada got to keep $86 billion as their "take". The cost of basic necessities for Americans increased 15% between March and June. Basic necessities are such items as food, shelter, medical care and energy. — New housing starts in California increased sharply thru June of this year — up 36%. Leading the way was new apartments — up 97% from 1977.

GOOD NEWS for this year's college graduates — job offers are up 30% over last year and 90% over 1976. — Banks are asking for an extension of time to start the programs for automatic transfers between savings and checking accounts — original starting date, 1 November. — FACTORIES in the U.S. operated at 84.1% of capacity in July — the highest rate in almost 4 years.

The ADMINISTRATION is TRYING but the nation's motorists are not co-operating — demand and use of gasoline reached an all-time high in July. — Americans strongly favor the reduction of capital gains tax from 49% to 35% and are letting their people in CONGRESS know about it, says a recent Harris poll.

You may not have noticed, but the Shelter Island Inn was sold thru bankruptcy proceedings — the purchase price a little over $3 million — includes 97 rooms, 185 boat slips, and includes an agreement to spend $250 thousand for improvements within one year. — The wheels in Washington are taking a second look at the increase in the minimum wage increase of 25c to $2.90 an hour — they want to postpone the January 1 date or reduce the amount of increase — my, my.

ASSEMBLY SPEAKER MCCARTHY says that an adjustment of business property taxes to 90% of pre-Prop. 13 levels would eliminate ALL homeowner property taxes and provide substantial tax credit for RENTERS. — Think about this — American-made products, once very costly when compared to comparable imports are now far more attractive, due to the fall in the dollar.

The GALLUP POLL says that Americans do not feel that Congress will impose wage and price controls in the near future. — Labor Unions and employers are looking hard at the 4-day week. They say it will create problems in overtime and employee work schedules.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT — there are probably 35 million laws in the world — just trying to enforce the 10 Commandments.

Agriculture Offers Good Career Choices

Agriculture in California employs nearly one out of every four people in the state and the numbers keep climbing. The growth rate of the industry has been about 7 percent for the past four years and is expected to continue at that rate for the next four. Employment opportunities are expected to continue increasing at this same rate, according to career counselors at California's top agricultural institutions.

Some of the finest agricultural schools in the nation are located in California, including California State Polytechnic University, Pomona; California State University, Fresno; California State University, Chico; California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo and the University of California, Davis. At Cal/Poly, Pomona, Associate Dean Allen Christianson said, "The motto here is 'learn by doing.' We also like to give the student a strong business background." With 13 different departments in the school and a large number of options, it is possible for a student to qualify himself for

All these statistics mean that there are excellent opportunities for those willing to make an investment in their future by completing an agricultural course of study.

According to Christianson, employment opportunities are good. Ornamental horticulture, agricultural biology and pest management have more jobs than qualified graduates to fill them. Agricultural business management, fruit industries and agricultural engineering offer excellent job placement opportunities as well.

At the University of California, Davis, Dean Charles Hess said, "Our format here is a little different from the other agricultural schools in California. There is less hands-on training and more theory. This allows our graduates to grow more in their jobs. Eighty percent of our agricultural graduates go on to do some post graduate work," Hess said.

A recent survey of U.C., Davis agricultural graduates showed that approximately 14 percent went back to the farm. Another 15 percent had jobs before graduation and 85 percent of the graduates were located in their chosen career within 12 months of graduation.
